A WAKENING THE DRAGON

Welcome to the East, where we turn to greet the rising sun. Here the winds of integrity fan our heart warrior with the courage to step out. As we face the East we are supported in our integrity to speak our truth and to remember to walk the kinder and compassionate solution. In the east, we meet the warrior of our heart and awaken the slumbering dragon of creativity, inspiration and dynamic action.

During the weekend we will share about our grandfathers and our relationship to the true and magnificent masculine. We will celebrate the springing into action with fire and song. We will come together in community to explore protection and provision as we clear away the shadowy world of lies and projection. Together we will extract the good out of patriarchy and contribute to building our new inclusive world with fresh new eyes.

Come with journals and pens. Wear color, bring color and be willing to stay late into the Saturday evening.
