Summer Workshop 2007

Saturday August 4th, Sunday August 5th, Gold Bar 9:30am-6pm

You are welcome to camp overnight in the garden or there is a motel in Gold Bar that has good accommodation at reasonable prices.

This is the time of physical manifestation, the harvesting of the fruit and celebration of all the growth that has occurred for us during the year. In this workshop we will discover our unconscious language through our present body language, we will touch and work with the four sacred addictions. We shall explore giving, forgiving and gratitude. We will journey to the four chambers of our heart and share together as community.

Come prepared to play in the river and in the sand, and to have summer fun.

Bring lunch for both days (breakfast if required). We will eat in Monroe together on Saturday evening.

Bring journal, colored pens and a giveaway that has emotional value for you. Suitable clothes for being wet.

Language of the Heart

I have been given permission to share this language which has changed my own life and I invite you to learn, practice and become proficient in it. The class will focus on learning and using the words.

Saturday September 8th, 9am-5pm, Seattle, (place to be announced)

Last winter I met Robert Tennyson Stevens and received my first bio optic holographic reading. This experience inspired and motivated me into further studies with him because of my own personal healing which occurred. The result is the granting of his permission to open my own bio optic holography practice.

My first class was in conscious language, the language of the heart, a means of sculpting and creating our very reality. This practice nurtures sacred space between me and my client allowing me to honor and respect my client's original DNA blueprint within his or her iris, his or her holy messenger. Robert showed how this produced an entrance into the freedom to interact in trust and love with my client and seeing them continually in their perfection.

The words we speak sculpt and create our very reality. They are the breath made material. Robert teaches that many conversations and language patterns of our ancestors are couched in the words we use. These patterns show our beliefs regarding how we feel about ourselves in relation to our highest truths. These clues to our own healing can be found in the words with which we communicate, think and even feel.

Using the Language of Mastery I find I have become more conscious of my personal use of language and my opportunity for positive change. I have been given permission to share this language which has changed my own life and I invite you to learn, practice and use this way of communication for yourselves. My class to share this will be on Sept. 8th 2007 and we will focus on learning and using these words of positive manifestation.

$120 includes the workbook and CD. Scholarship help available; please e-mail me at mcleansarah@comcast.net
