INTO THE HEART OF GOD

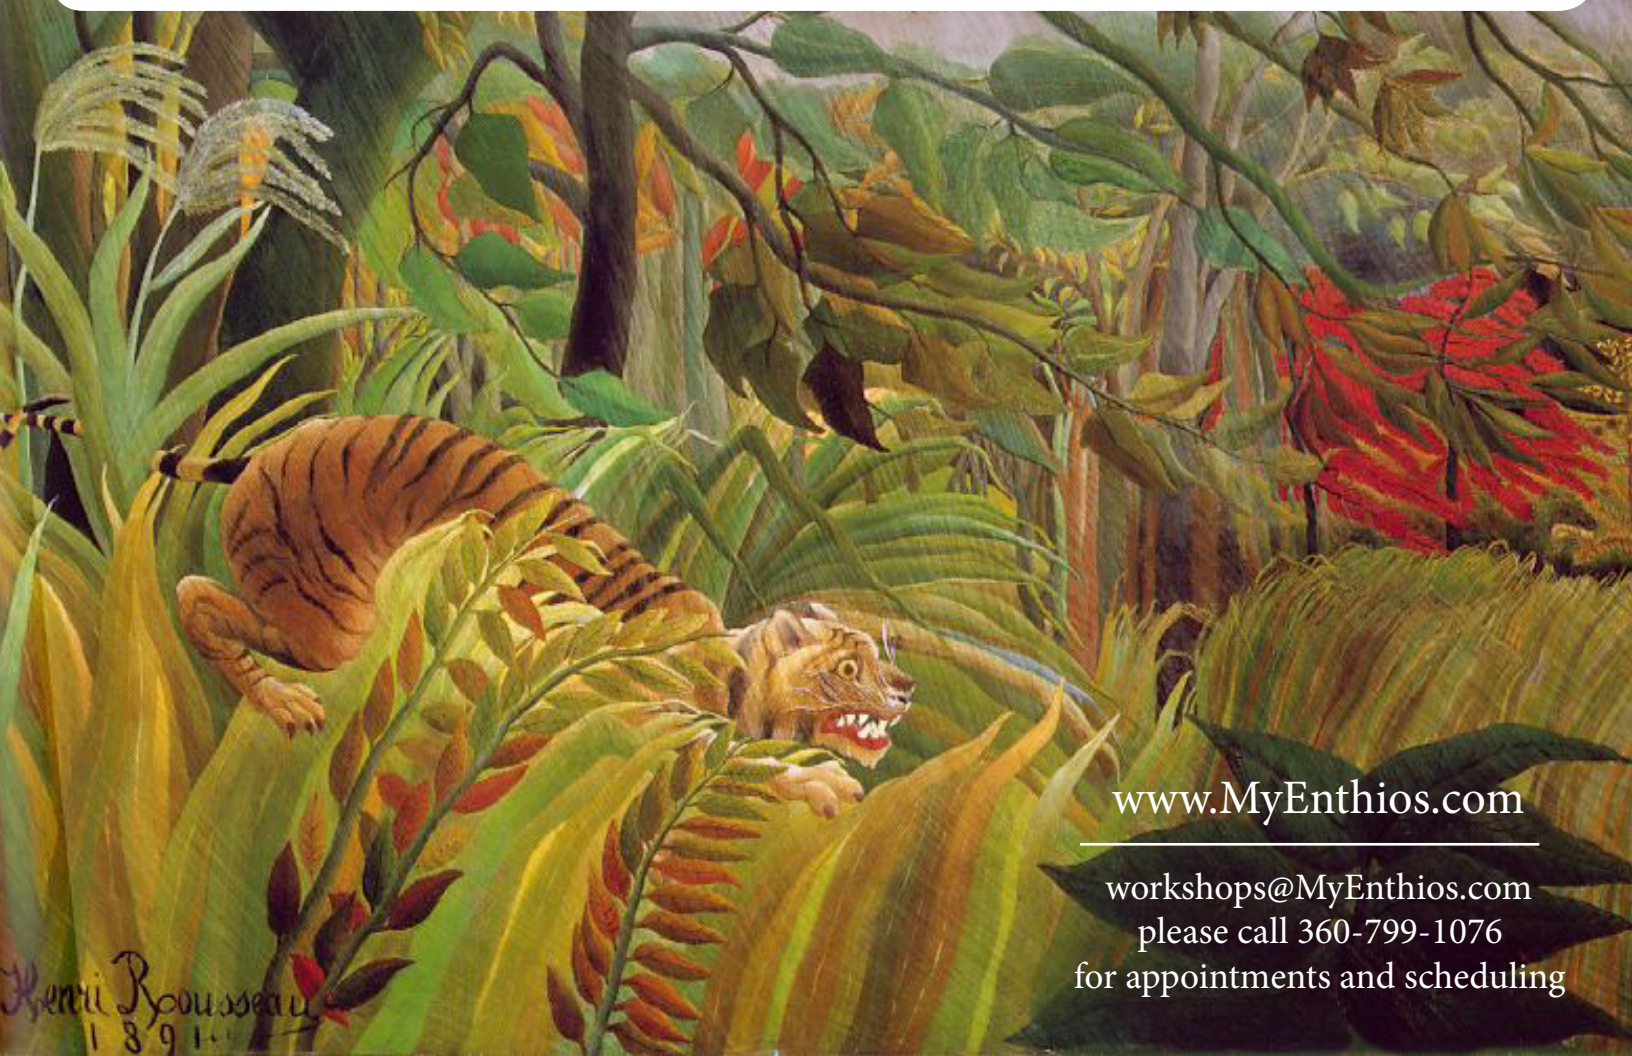

Many religions refer to the heart as the seat of the soul. Throughout the ages the heart has been referred to as a source not only of virtue but also of intelligence. Within the last few decades our neuroscientists have found that the heart has its own nervous system, its own brain. So to cultivate our own heart intelligence is to nurture our relationship with the divine and to journey into the heart of our creator. This day is devoted to experiencing our hearts in fulfilled ways and to open the doors of perception into a heart centered way of seeing and being.
